Introducing...

Elf

created for library users

- 📖 reduce fines with email/RSS alerts
- 📖 check multiple library cards
- 📖 track books, DVDs, CDs, etc.
- 📖 get text messages for holds
- 📖 easy-to-use
- 📖 accessible from home or work

Organize, manage and plan your library activities with Elf!

What does Elf do?

Elf offers library customers a way to keep track of their borrowed items by email or browser. Receive email courtesy notices when items are due, overdue or ready for pick up. Text messaging for holds is also available.

Features

- email/RSS alerts: pre-overdue, overdue and holds
- track your library card(s) or your family's library cards
- selectable delivery date for reminders
- text message hold alerts
- real-time web access
- one page summary

Benefits

- reduce overdues
- reduce the 'oops, I forgot' factor
- organize and plan your library trip and activities
- take the worry out of borrowing
- encourage reading and learning

Delivery date selections

On due date, the day before or up to seven day advance notice. Or select a day (from Sunday to Saturday) for weekly notice.

What about my privacy?

Email addresses will not be sold, shared or distributed and personal information is encrypted.

How do I get started?

Complete the simple sign up form and register your library card number(s) at: www.libraryelf.com/signup.aspx?library=MVLC

“Elf is just what I’ve been hoping for.”

Stephen Bisanz, co-owner of Resonance Software, Inc. and dad of three.

“Elf has been really great for me and my family. We often had overdue fines, but since registering with Elf, they are a thing of the past!”

Claudia Cornwall, author, “Letter from Vienna: A Daughter Uncovers Her Family's Jewish Past”

“Thankfully Elf notifies me when the material is due and allows me time to locate all our books...”

J. Harmsworth, mother of three active readers
